LECTURER
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY
NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY’S Department of Sociology invites applications for a part-time, non-continuing faculty appointment as a Lecturer. Duties primarily involve teaching one or two in-person quarter-long undergraduate courses and holding office hours. We are looking for lecturers for the winter (January 3-March 17) and/or spring (March 28-June 9) quarters of 2023.

We are looking for a dynamic teacher. Courses could include quantitative methods, urban sociology, global and local inequalities, global perspectives on education, or sociology of religion.

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in Sociology or a related field, which must be conferred by the first day of the teaching quarter. Interested applicants should submit (1) a letter of application, (2) CV, and (3) teaching portfolio (course syllabi and evaluations). Letters of recommendation should not be sent unless requested. Review of applications will begin on September 13, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Positions will pay at least $8,500 per course, with higher compensation based on experience and larger expected course size.

Please submit all materials as a single PDF email attachments to soc.ac@northwestern.edu.
